

Editor's Note

Time flies! We are approaching the end of year and this issue of Silpakorn University Journal of Social Sciences, Humanities, and Arts is the final one for 2012. During the past months, we have experienced an increasing volume of supply of manuscripts for consideration for publication in our journal; that was great news. This issue features papers on a variety of disciplines of social sciences and humanities, including education, economics, sociology, and archaeology. Hopefully, there will be more papers on arts and studies of human past (e.g., archaeology, history, and art history) in next issues.

Again, as editor, I would like to encourage submission of papers to our journal. At the same time, I am grateful to all past, present, and future contributors to our journal, as well as our manuscript reviewers for their constructive comments on the papers. Submission of manuscripts under the broad themes of the journal is, as always, welcome.

Until we meet next year!
